Online auction start date Wednesday 7th October 2009

Artist Adelaide Damoah will be auctioning 10 pieces from her Supermodels collection in aid of the World Endometriosis Research Foundation (registered charity no:1116775)

Endometriosis affects 1 in 10 women during their reproductive years; it causes horrific pain and is one of the main causes of infertility.

The World Endometriosis Research Foundation (WERF™) is the first global charity to foster research in endometriosis to improve knowledge and treatments for the millions of women worldwide affected by the disease.

Adelaide is a self-taught artist who as an endometriosis sufferer herself, and passionate about this cause. "Endometriosis is what brought me to art and as such, the two are inextricably linked for me. I am happy to do anything I can to aid more research into this area and help to raise awareness of the condition".

Adelaide is probably best known for her 2006 exhibition "Black Brits" where she attempted to evoke a racial debate with striking pieces of British Icons, leading to appearances on BBC London News and Channel 5 News. Adelaide had three solo shows in 2008, which were met with great acclaim. Two group shows in 2009 include Budapest, Hungary with a further solo exhibition held on 1st October in SOHO, London. So far, she has a solo exhibitions booked for 2010 in Denmark and is set to branch out and do more European shows in 2011.
